The Tsar Bomba was flown to its test site by a specially modified Tu-95V release plane, flown by Major Andrei Durnovtsev. The Tu-95V bombers were designed to carry much lighter and smaller weapons, meaning the Tsar Bomba was too big to be placed on a missile, and too heavy for the planes to transport it to the target with enough fuel.

Table 2 summarizes the responses in terms of the proportion of workers who said employers were doing well or falling short, and the difference between the two responses. In 1999 there were moderate differences between the proportions who report employers doing well and the proportion who report them falling short on most issues: an average of five points for bread and butter issues, and two ...

Stonewall Jackson's command, the Valley District of the Department of Northern Virginia, expanded significantly during the campaign as reinforcements were added, starting with a force of a mere 5,000 effectives and reaching an eventual peak of 17,000 men. It remained, however, greatly outnumbered by the various Union armies opposing it, which together numbered 52,000 men in June 1862.

The ACLU is committed to challenging the "school-to-prison pipeline," a disturbing national trend wherein children are funneled out of public schools and into the juvenile and criminal justice systems. Many of these children have learning disabilities or histories of poverty, abuse, or neglect, and would benefit from additional educational and counseling services.
