The law of God is not a "system of merit" whereby the unsaved seek to earn divine favor, but a pattern of life given by the Redeemer to the redeemed so that they might know how to live for His good pleasure "such is the biblical understanding regarding the function of the law; thus the Old Testament asserts that the law was given for our good, to bring us to a hitherto unrealized fullness of life (Deut 4:1; 5:33; 8:1). The first desire of God is that His redeemed should be obedient.
