Panthera leo leo is the nominate subspecies of the lion, which is present in West Africa, northern Central Africa and India today. In West and Central Africa, it is restricted to fragmented and isolated populations, most of them declining. The West African lion population is isolated with fewer than 250 mature individuals, and therefore listed as Critically Endangered on the IUCN Red List.

Panthera leo melanochaita is a lion subspecies in Southern and East Africa. In this part of Africa, lion populations are regionally extinct in Lesotho, Djibouti and Eritrea, and threatened by loss of habitat and prey base, killing by local people in retaliation for loss of livestock, and in several countries also by trophy hunting. Since the turn of the 21st century, lion populations in ...
